

HOMES FOR WORKMEN

Temple of Labor Plan to Care for Dependents.

EDUCATION FOR ORPHANS

Board of Directors Proposes, Out of Temple Funds, to Erect Cottages in Suburbs for Superannuated and Disabled Union Men—Means to Raise Money Under Consideration.

The purchase of a large tract of land in the suburbs of Washington, and the erection thereon of cottages where labor men, unable to longer work at their trades, may live in comfort, is one of the great plans of the board of directors of the National Temple of Labor Association, which is now advancing its primary project of building a million-dollar Temple of Labor in the National Capital. These homes will be maintained out of the income from the temple.

Other funds that may accrue from the income of the temple is to be devoted to the support of widows and the education of orphans of laboring men.

Dependent to Be Cared For.
At the present time, according to one of the directors of the association, a labor man, when he becomes aged or incapacitated, is practically a recipient of charity. With the erection of cottages the wants of the indigent and superannuated labor men will receive consideration.

It has been shown by Carroll D. Wright and other statisticians, it is said, that one laboring man is killed every minute of the twenty-four hours. Many children are left destitute. Under the present these orphans will be well taken of, and will not be allowed to be neglected.

Turbulent by Many Deaths.
It is evident that the many deaths in industrial trades is becoming a most serious problem, according to labor men. The board of directors said last night that Representative Richmond P. Harrison has requested the House to inquire into the truth of statistics relative to the vast number of violent deaths.

Representative Hobson believes, it is said, that means should be devised to prevent these accidents that result in violent deaths, and that Congress should adopt measures that will provide for the orphans.

Although the plans of the association to provide for the aged, infirm, and for the widows and orphans had not been known until announced in The Washington Herald to-day, Congressmen, bankers, and business men have assured the promoters. It is said, that they will in some measure support the movement.

Ways of Raising Money.
Once the end of the project becomes widely known, the directors of the association assert, the money for the land and the building will be easily raised.

In order to facilitate raising funds for the erection of the temple, R. G. M. Ross, president of the National Temple of Labor Association, has resigned that position to become general manager and sole agent for the collection of funds for the building.

Mr. Ross has contracted with local business men to put on the market "Temple" brands of cigars, tobacco, cigarettes, clothing, and household goods. From the royalty on the sale of these articles, the board of directors of the temple believes sufficient funds will be raised, so it will be unnecessary to ask for contributions.

Thomas McGilton, president of the Brotherhood of Painters, Local 368, has been elected president of the National Temple of Labor Association.

Plans of New Temple.
The board of directors of the association yesterday laid out literature and pictures of the Temple of Labor shortly to be erected.

According to the pictures, the temple will be a worthy addition to the beautiful buildings of the city. It will cost $1,000,000, exclusive of the land, which will entail the expenditure of at least $250,000.

Seven stories in height, the temple will be completely detached, so that there will be exits from all sides of the principal hall. This large hall will be on the ground floor, and will have a seating capacity of between 10,000 and 12,000.

In the basement, all the features of a modern club will be installed. There will be Turkish baths, a swimming pool, bowling alleys, and billiard halls. On the upper floors, besides many office rooms for the use of labor organizations, there will be several commodious reading and library rooms.

It has not been determined whether the top story will be used for a roof garden or a gymnasium.

For the exterior of the building it has been decided to use white marble, similar to that used in the new Municipal Building. The temple will be absolutely fireproof.

The entrance to the auditorium of the temple will be unique. It will be composed of bronze plates, bearing the signatures of all contributors to the building fund.

HOLLIS FUNERAL TO-DAY.
Husband of Dead Woman Is Taken to Hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Evelyn Hollis, who was shot and killed by her husband, Hugh Hollis, early Friday morning, will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, in the Sacred Heart Church. Rev. Joseph P. McGee, pastor of the church, will officiate, and the remains will be placed in a vault in Glenwood Cemetery.

Yesterday morning Hollis was taken to Garfield Hospital, to be treated for nervousness. Several relatives of the wife came to the city yesterday, and will be present at the funeral.

Bicycle Is Injured.
While riding his bicycle in Fourteenth street, near Thomas circle, at 8 o'clock last night, Joseph Thompson, twenty-one years old, was knocked down by a cab driven by a negro. He received several scalp wounds. The cab driver did not stop. After receiving temporary treatment in the Burlington apartments, Thompson went to his home, 215 F street northeast.

Take Up Bradford Case.
The executive board of Commercial Telegraphers' Union, local 24, will meet this afternoon at 1:30, in Typographical Temple, to reply to the request of the Central Labor Union that delegate Bradford be recalled from that body. Bradford is charged with failing to voice the sentiments either of his union or the central body in a letter to Congressman Overstreet, relative to the telegraphers' attitude on government ownership.

Presented to President.
Ambassador Jusserand, called at the White House yesterday to present to the President Stephen Lauzun, editor of Matin, Paris.

TAKE LABOR STINGS FROM SHERMAN LAW

have eventuated, which is probably the same thing as saying until after the nomination and election of a candidate for the Presidency—preferably the administration's candidate. The foregoing is given substantially on the authority of Charles J. Bonaparte, the Attorney General.

Mr. Bonaparte stated the matter in a somewhat indirect way, but in terms having the same purport, in reply to questions.

He was asked if it was true he had instructed the United States attorney at New Orleans to suspend action in the case of a number of longshoremen there who had violated the Sherman anti-trust law as expounded in the Danbury haters' case. His reply was the attorney had been informed by the Department of Justice that the administration wished in all cases to be advised in advance as to contemplated actions under the Sherman anti-trust law or any interstate commerce laws.

"We have here in the department," said Mr. Bonaparte, "an expert in such matters, and perhaps more than one expert. We have had certain experience, and have established or availed ourselves of certain precedents that may not be well known to the various district attorneys."

Zealous District Attorney.
"I do not wish to be misunderstood as having censured the district attorney at New Orleans. He has not done so. He is a new appointee and has been somewhat zealous."

Mr. Bonaparte talked further about the longshoremen's case at New Orleans. He said indictments were found by the grand jury and the district attorney had, he believed, written the indictments upon request of the grand jury.

He did not know the attorney had pressed for indictments, nor that he had not done so. But the feeling of the Department of Justice was that district attorneys ought to advise the department in advance of such proceedings, for reasons stated.

Then Mr. Bonaparte was asked if it was true that the department had given instructions to district attorneys generally to bring no actions in law against labor unions until after consultation with the administration authorities at Washington.

The Attorney General denied that such instructions had been given. It was possible, he said, that attorneys in the field had been told in certain instances not to institute any action of any kind under the commerce or anti-trust laws until they had held consultation with the Department of Justice.

"Has complaint been made to the Department of Justice against any labor union or labor unions as a result of recent court decisions?" the Attorney General was asked.

"Yes," Mr. Bonaparte replied. "A complaint was made to the department against the union of longshoremen at New Orleans. Mr. Bonaparte said he did not care to mention the particular case or the form of the complaint. He made the significant statement, however, that no action on the part of the government was contemplated at present."

Mr. Bonaparte Explains.
The reason for inaction was frankly given by Mr. Bonaparte.

He said the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the haters' case was made on a demurrer, and testimony had not been taken. The case was remanded to the Circuit Court. Pending submission of testimony, the Federal administration would do nothing in the way of prosecuting labor union men accused of violating the Sherman law.

In making this statement, the Attorney General compared the government's position to the position which it had assumed toward the suit of an independent sugar refining company in Philadelphia against the sugar trust. The Attorney General was asked to intervene on behalf of the government in that case, but he declined.

He said the government was not a party to the suit, one for triple damages, and he had not felt justified in intervening until such time as the facts should be brought out by the independent sugar concern.

Government Not a Party.
Neither was the Federal government a party in the Danbury haters' case, the Attorney General remarked. The government should contemplate no action in the premises until after the final adjudication of the case, which will not take place until after the taking of testimony.

The events which the Attorney General is waiting for will not happen, of course, for some time. That fact makes it certain the administration will not bother the labor unions with suits in the courts for some months to come, if at all.

DRUG SWINDLE WORKS.
Articles Ordered Over Phone and Change for $10 Gone.

Report was made to the police, late last night, that a swindler, known as the "drug-store man," who some months ago found a number of victims, had again started to ply his trade in his own way.

W. P. N. King, proprietor of a drug store at Vermont avenue and I street northwest, said he was called up on the telephone shortly before 5 o'clock, from the Colorado Building. The man asked that a bottle of tooth powder and a bottle of paragon be sent to the building, together with change for a $10 bill.

The articles were accordingly sent, together with $10, the corrected check again found a number of victims, and again started to ply his trade in his own way.

COLLEGE MEN DINE

Phi Delta Theta Alumni Club Gives Annual Banquet.

FOUNDED BY WM. MORRISON

Anniversary Celebration Held at the Tea Cup Inn Last Night—Address by Robert McDowell, Who Advocates the Further Advancement—Other Speeches and a Merry Evening.

Old days at college were recalled last night by members of the Washington Alumni Club of Phi Delta Theta at the Tea Cup Inn. It was the occasion of the banquet held each year on the anniversary of the birth of the founder of the fraternity.

It was sixty years ago to-day that William Morrison and six other students of Miami College laid the foundation of one of the largest and most influential college fraternities in the United States. It was of this organization that President Harrison was a member during his college days, he being one of the first thirteen.

Introduces First Speaker.
There were about fifty members present, and after the good things had been stowed away, Toastmaster George McCullough Rummel, Wesleyan, '07, with appropriate remarks, introduced the first speaker of the evening, Robert McDowell, Allen, Kentucky State, 1908. Mr. Allen spoke on the ways in which Phi Delta Theta could make further advancement.

Robert Somerville, Jr., Mississippi, '07, spoke of the relations of the active chapter of the alumni. Mr. Somerville was followed by Edward W. Hearne, Wesleyan, '04, and talked of the international scope of Phi Delta Theta.

It remained for Charles R. Somborger, Vermont, '30, to make the bit of the evening. He took for his theme the popular refrain, "Every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more."

The committee on arrangements was William N. Compton, Alabama, '88; Percy L. Hodges, De Pauw, '90, and Robert Somerville, Jr., Mississippi, '07.

List of the Guests.
The following guests were present: Charles E. Anderson, Fredrick H. Martin, R. M. Allen, Ralph P. Barnard, Walter N. Best, Claude N. Bennett, Geo. John C. Black, A. O. Burkland, Herbert Clark, K. C. Corley, William N. Compton, Walter J. Douglas, Albert L. Dyer, Paul Durbach, S. W. Fitch, J. I. Giverty, Joseph R. Graft, A. S. Hough, E. W. Hoar, P. H. Houtman, A. H. Miller, P. L. Hodges, William R. Lee, Maria M. McLean, Ira B. McNeil, J. B. McLean, E. W. Matthews, C. A. Mechin, J. E. Moschelt, G. M. Bennett, Carl D. Shensky, William W. South, Charles R. Somborger, A. R. Sped, M. C. Summers, H. A. Sloan, M. C. Suley, F. G. Tinger, Miles T. Urdorf, J. W. G. Tupper, J. D. Ellis, Mr. Roberts, R. S. Taylor, Mr. Felton, and H. F. Loman.

ASK FOR A PAID ORGANIZER
Labor Delegates Discuss Plans to Extend Local Unions.

Opinion Expressed that Expense Should Be Borne by the American Federation of Labor.

At a conference last night of delegates from the different labor unions, held in American Federation Hall, efforts were made to elect a paid organizer for the district. Owing to the meeting being informal, the question of having a paid organizer was referred to the Central Labor Union.

It was the general opinion that the organizer should be paid by the American Federation of Labor. Several delegates asserted that the parent body could easily meet the expense, while it would be a hardship for the local organization. The delegates were unanimous in declaring an organizer of crafts is needed in the District.

The meeting last night was the first the labor unions have held in preparation for the building season. It was declared that the delegates should assist and co-operate with the Central Labor Union in every respect, and try to effect means that will better the condition not only of organized but of unorganized labor.

HOSPITAL MAY YIELD.
Controversy Will Be Settled Amicably, Says Secretary Luce.

No member of the Medical Association of the District of Columbia can fill a vacant position on the board of management of a hospital until the physicians of that hospital have a voice in the management of that institution.

The above resolution, recently passed by the local medical association, brings the controversy with the Providence Hospital to a deadlock.

Unless the management of the institution accedes to the request of the local society that the physicians connected with the hospital have a voice in the management, members of the association say the vacancies created by the dismissal of Dr. Bovey and the resignations of Dr. L. Eliot and Dr. G. M. Kober cannot be filled.

As the matter stands, there are several important patients at the hospital that cannot be filled by members of the Medical Association until the by-laws of the hospital undergo the change demanded by the association.

When the superintendent has not discussed the controversy or announced his attitude toward the demands of the association, Dr. Charles R. Luce, secretary of the consulting board, said last night the matter would undoubtedly be settled amicably.

Hold Annual Meeting.
Members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Washington, will hold their twenty-ninth annual meeting in the Fourth Presbyterian Church, Fairmont and Thirteenth streets northwest, Tuesday morning, at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe and Mrs. D. E. Wilber will preside. Addresses will be made by Mrs. Frank J. Ball, of Wilmington; Dr. J. C. R. Twine, president of Forman Christian College; and Rev. Charles R. Weston, of Philadelphia.

Penalizing Is Discussed.
With the appointment of committees to take under advisement the matters discussed, the conference between the officials of the Post-office Department and representatives of various railroads in the country has been concluded. The meeting was called by Second Assistant Postmaster General James T. McCleary for the purpose of considering complaints by the railroads to the department concerning the administration of postal laws. It is understood that the question discussed was that of penalizing the roads for delay in transportation of mail.

FLOTILLA AT PANAMA.
Due to Arrive at Magdalena Bay About April 6.

The flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers has arrived at Panama, according to a dispatch from Lieut. Commander Huth I. Cone, received at the Navy Department yesterday.

The flotilla is two days ahead of its schedule. After a stay of about five days, the destroyers will proceed to Acapulco, Mexico, where they are due on March 25.

They are expected to arrive at Magdalena Bay for target practice about April 6. Upon the completion of their target practice, the destroyers will proceed to San Francisco Bay in time to participate in the grand naval review to be held there on May 5.

LANDIS HAS G. P. O. REPORT.

Fighting to Be Made Public To-day or To-morrow.

William S. Rossett's report of conditions at the Government Printing Office was turned over to Representative Landis, chairman of the House Committee on Printing, yesterday, by President Roosevelt, and will probably be made public to-day or to-morrow.

The House committee wished to get some idea of the conditions at the big printery before it was given to the public.

That the report will show The Audit System to have caused immense outlays of money, which were unnecessary, is certain. The President has not, as yet, selected any one for the position of Public Printer. This was divulged Friday, when E. G. Krehbiel, of Cincinnati, and J. Frank Dumbley, of Boston, called on Mr. Roosevelt and submitted their applications for the place.

GRIDIRON CLUB MEETING.
Mr. Hall Elected Vice President. Mr. Aubrey New Member.

The Gridiron Club held its monthly meeting at the New Willard last night. A smoker followed.

Henry Hall, of the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph, was unanimously elected vice president of the club, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Crosby S. Noyes.

J. H. Aubrey, of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, was elected to membership in the club.

MOTORMAN UNDER ARREST.
Kleindienst Held to Answer for Injuries to Police in Collision.

Three warrants were issued yesterday for the arrest of Francis C. Kleindienst, motorman of the Chevy Chase car in collision with the Second precinct patrol wagon Friday afternoon, seriously injuring four policemen and the driver.

The warrants were issued at the instance of Sergt. C. E. E. Flather, of the Second precinct, and charge the motorman with failure to ring his gong, violation of the street car speed limit, and failure to make way for a police patrol or ambulance.

Kleindienst, accompanied by G. Thomas Dunlop, counsel for the Capital Traction Company, appeared in the Police Court and deposited security for his appearance.

Assistant Corporation Counsel James Pugh announced that the charges would not be brought before the court until the injured policemen are able to appear as witnesses.

Policeman W. H. Hockingham, physician in attendance now believes, will pull through without trouble. Policeman Mulhall, at the Homeopathic Hospital, is much improved, and probably will be able to leave the institution within a few days.

Besides the investigation that will be made by the court, District Commissioner H. L. West will conduct a separate inquiry.

TRYING TO SAVE PAOLUCCI
Italian Must Hang on Friday Unless President Intervenes.

Efforts are being made by Attorneys Taylor, Yeatman, and Lambert to secure the commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment of Joseph Paolucci, the Italian shoemaker, convicted of the murder in September, 1906, of Elizabeth V. Dodge, a sixteen-year-old girl. The execution has been set for Friday next.

As stated in The Washington Herald some time ago, the condemned man is wasting away as the result of an insupportable disease. He now weighs barely eighty pounds, and doubt is expressed if his neck would be broken by the drop through the trap door of the scaffold, so that it might be necessary to allow him to be suspended until death came from strangulation. Statements as to Paolucci's condition, signed by Warden Harris and Dr. Shute, the jail physician, have been placed in the hands of the Department of Justice, and will be called to the attention of the President.

The Council, while he had paid the girl some attention, was never considered by her as a suitor, and in a fit of insane jealousy he met her on the street and fired two shots into her body, from which she died almost instantly. He then turned the weapon on himself and fired a bullet into his right side, and this bullet, on account of his physical condition, has never been extracted.

The Italian Ambassador, it is said, will make an appeal to the President in behalf of Paolucci.

GEMS RETURNED BY MAIL.
Thief Sends $275 Worth of Jewels and Keeps $6.50 Cash.

Nearly $300 worth of jewelry, stolen from the apartment of Mrs. J. M. Sherwood, the Astoria, Third and G streets northwest, Friday afternoon, was returned to her late yesterday evening by mail. There was taken at the same time as the jewelry $6.50 in cash, which was not returned.

Mrs. Sherwood reported the robbery to the police yesterday morning. Central Office Detective Mullen was assigned to the case.

Within a short time after the detective began his investigation, the elevator boy in the apartment house left his car on the second floor and disappeared. A lookout has been established for him.

Mrs. Sherwood's missing jewelry consisted of a five-stone diamond ring, valued at $125; a pair of diamond and turquoise earrings and seven rhinestones, valued at $150.

Funeral of Mrs. Wilson.
The funeral of Dr. Anne Augusta Wilson, prominent among the leading woman physicians of Washington, who died Thursday, was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church. Services were conducted by Rev. E. Slater Dunlap, assistant rector of St. John's parish. Interment will be in the family plot in Derry, N. H., the former home of the Wilson family.
